Messaging

- Do consider your audience demographic. If you're talking to:
 - The general public or young people (ages 13-17), encourage them to know the facts and tell their friends.
 - Adults (18+) who may be considering use, encourage them to exercise caution and be prepared.
 - Parents or educators, encourage them to foster conversation in schools and at home.
- Do customize the messaging and graphics to match your brand voice and resonate with your audience.
- Do not stigmatize drug use. Emphasize the risks of encountering illicitly manufactured fentanyl and how to protect yourself and your community.

Subject Line: Help Spread the Word About the Illicit Fentanyl Crisis

Send: On May 9, 2023

The safety and wellbeing of our community is always of utmost importance, which is why [ORGANIZATION] is proud to recognize the second annual National Fentanyl Awareness Day. We are doing our part to raise public awareness about an urgent problem: people are dying at alarming rates due to illicitly manufactured fentanyl (IMF), a potent synthetic opioid.

Founded by parents who have lost loved ones to this crisis, National Fentanyl Awareness Day is supported by a coalition of issue-area experts, corporations, nonprofits, schools, families and elected officials who are coming together today to spread the word. We invite you to take action with us today to help spread the word and save lives:

1. Know the Facts. Below are 6 key facts you need to know about this crisis. Learn more about fentanyl, key safety tips, and risks at fentanylawarenessday.org.
 - Illicit fentanyl is being used to make fake prescription pills and is also found in common street drugs like cocaine, MDMA and heroin.
 - Often consumed unknowingly by users, illicit fentanyl is driving the recent increase in U.S. overdose deaths.
 - Fake pills have been found in all 50 states. Assume any prescription pill you see online is fake, including Oxy, Percocet, Adderall and Xanax.
 - Fake pills are the main reason fentanyl-involved deaths are fastest growing amongst youth.
 - Fentanyl is involved in more American youth deaths than heroin, meth, cocaine, benzos, and RX drugs COMBINED.
 - Fentanyl is involved in more deaths of Americans under 50 than any other cause of death, including heart disease, cancer, homicide, suicide, and other accidents.

2. Help Spread the Word. There are several ways individuals and organizations can increase awareness and help save lives:

- Talk to your loved ones. Have an open dialogue with your family and friends about the issue. Ask questions about their awareness of fentanyl in fake pills and street drugs and outline steps for how they can protect themselves.
- Know the signs of an overdose and be prepared to call 911.
- Locate Naloxone (Narcan) near you and learn how to administer it.
- Post about the issue on social media. Re-share content from the activation day's Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, or LinkedIn accounts today and using the hashtag #NationalFentanylAwarenessDay. A full toolkit can be found here.

We hope you'll join us in spreading this important message!
